Closing the Gap and the Eastside Parks

On April 27, the Minneapolis City Council approved a charter amendment and 20-year financial plan to ensure additional funding for neighborhood parks. The Minneapolis Parks and Recreation Board (MPRB), in turn, will advance a concurrent park funding ordinance in May, followed by an ordinance in June to ensure equitable investments in neighborhood parks. Bottom line? Both governing bodies are taking necessary steps to guarantee the continued health and vitality of neighborhood parks while the MPRB is also developing criteria for 1) deciding which neighborhood parks will be scheduled to receive additional funding for capital improvements, and 2) when these projects will be scheduled.

According to the MPRB's web site, this criteria falls into two categories: community characteristics and park characteristics. More specifically, the MPRB states: "Community characteristics include neighborhood demographic data such as identified racially concentrated areas of poverty, population density, youth population and crime statistics. Park characteristics include park asset data like asset condition, asset lifespan and proportionality of investment since 2000 relative to the total value of park assets. The criteria were developed with feedback from representatives of local organizations whose work is focused on racial equity."

In Bottineau, and Northeast as a whole, we might ask: how does this affect new capital funding for our parks? According to Liz Wielinski, District 1 Commissioner and MPRB President, the Eastside will not be receiving any of this new capital funding during the first five years of the new twenty-year plan, but we'll still see immediate benefits from an increase in maintenance funding for important things like new roofs and improved grounds keeping, thus keeping our existing facilities functioning until they are replaced.

More importantly, however, Northeast parks will still see capital improvements during this five-year span. Many projects on the Eastside have already been scheduled in the MPRB's current Capital Improvement Plan, and none of them are dependent on the new charter amendment or the agreement with the City. This includes projects at Bottineau Park (new playground in 2020) and Northeast Park, as well as MPRB's share of the new St. Anthony Parkway Bridge.

In fact, according to Wielinski, the Eastside has received more capital funding for parks than any other area in the city over the last 6 years. On what, you ask? How about Sheridan Memorial Park, the new bike trail that will be extending north from Boom Island along the river (see next article) or recent land purchases that make that trail and additional park land possible? Not to mention the future development of Hall's Island, which is the top project in MPRB's bonding request at the State Legislature. So, in Wielinski's words, "the Eastside is doing pretty darn good". But, in neighborhoods that remain underfunded, Eastsiders might disagree. ## New Riverfront Bike Trail To Open this Fall

In early May, construction will begin on a new .75 mile bike trail along Northeast's Mississippi riverfront, extending north from Boom Island, through the Scherer site, the Graco property and Sheridan Memorial Park. Its course will curve east at the BNSF railroad tracks near 16th Avenue NE, then terminate at Marshall Street NE. Bicyclists and pedestrians will share the southern half of the trail until it reaches Sheridan Memorial Park, where a separate pedestrian trail will break out and run next to the bike trail until it reaches the BNSF tracks. This new trail is one segment in a series of Upper Riverfront trail loops envisioned in the RiverFirst initiative (see tinyurl.com/river-first).

Project funding was provided by a $1 million grant from the Federal Highway Administration through its Transportation, Community and System Preservation Program, along with $600,000 in Metropolitan Council regional park capital improvement funds and a $50,000 Hennepin County Environmental Response Fund grant for onsite pollution remediation, which will be performed during construction.

The Foodie 4 Mile

The Foodie 4 Mile on May 21st is a fun run/walk fundraiser that helps make our community Northeast Farmers Market possible.

It takes many engaged volunteers and local business partners to make the Foodie 4 Mile a success, and the Northeast Farmers Market shares a portion of the raised money with one of its partners, the Food Group, an innovative hunger relief organization dedicated to serving the needs of changing communities through the distribution and promotion of healthy foods to over 200 partner food shelves and meal programs.

So if you value small local businesses and fresh healthy food, register for the Foodie 4 Mile and come on out May 21st to celebrate the opening day of the Northeast Farmers Market and plan on having a fantastic time!
